

If we now measure where we are by satellites of our own making, what is left for the stars to tell us?

Barb Flemington